TeamPeople Staffs Clinton Global Initiative

New York, NY (September 23, 2008) - - As the CGI Annual Meetings got underway, a tremendous video presence captured the discussions and presentations of public service for their tremendous global efforts. TeamPeople was proud to support the media requirements of this 4-day conference by supplying professional video production creative & technical talent.

The Clinton Global Initiative (CGI) is a non-partisan catalyst for action that brings together a community of global leaders from various backgrounds to devise and implement innovative solutions to some of the world's most pressing challenges. Broadcasts and podcasts from the event are available at www.clintonglobalinitiative.org.

Today, CGI is reaching even more leaders in diverse regions, future leaders from college campuses, and global citizens through a community of projects evolving from CGI's unique model that focuses on taking action. Since 2005, CGI members have made nearly 1,000 commitments valued at upwards of $30 billion to impact more than 200 million lives in over 150 countries.

TeamPeople has been placing both full-time and freelance independent contractors to broadcasters, cable networks, corporations, and institutions for the past seven years in the metropolitan area. This includes a contract with BMW of North America to supply a full-time production team and a large number of independent contractors to produce and manager their video & broadcast needs.

In addition, the TeamPeople Day Hire Division is filling numerous positions for its clients' daily and short-term production projects. TeamPeople has also provided engineering and staffing consulting services to several clients in the metropolitan area.
